

Publication Arrangements: Peer Review

Manuscripts submitted to Psychological Reports and Perceptual and Motor Skills are all subject to rigorous peer review by outside experts. These peer reviewers are chosen because they have knowledge in the particular topic. They are known for various publications of their own in the topic area and/or are generally experts in design, method, or analysis. In addition, associate editors who have broad knowledge of various topic areas are asked to review particularly difficult, unique, or controversial manuscripts. Manuscripts have at least 3 and up to 20 peer reviewers; the more controversial the topic, the more reviewers examine the manuscript.